

Putting Our Dead Poets Back on the Map

List of American Poets for Dead Poets Maps

This is a list of over 600 American poets compiled for the “Dead Poets” Maps, a 2009-2010 project of the Dead Poets Society of America. The names were added by consulting the reference works and online resources cited at the bottom.

The purpose of the maps is for people to document the gravesites, and sometimes memorials, of American poets. This way the public can help to enrich the cultural and historical commons by “digg’n up” dead poets. Probably only 40% of the poets’ graves have been documented to date, so the online maps serve as references for those helping to research, and put our dead poets back on the map!

This is the list as of February 13, 2010. The Maps for individual states and regions can be accessed here: <http://deadpoes.org/help1.html>

STATE MAPS

The names on this list of American poets organized by state and region correspond to Dead Poets Maps (<http://deadpoes.org/help1.html>). Names on the state lists are either arranged chronologically, according to when a poet was added to a map, or alphabetically. There are also some duplicates, as some poets are closely associated with more than one state.
